Neutraderm Inc. Introduces brandMD® SKIN CARE, a Company Specializing in Private Labeling of Medical-Grade Skin Care Products, Exclusively for Medical Professionals

LOS ANGELES, CA...Neutraderm, Inc., a technology based skin care manufacturer for major domestic and international brands worldwide, introduces the transition of the physician's private label skincare division to a new corporation, brandMD®. brandMD® will concentrate solely on providing physicians with the latest innovations in skincare technology, with the ability of private labeling the new line with the physician's name or with our pre-established brandMD® label. This ensures the physician, the best service, quality and attention for their private label skincare needs.

brandMD® specializes in the development and marketing of technology based skin care products for the medical industry. brandMD® has worked closely with Neutraderm Inc.'s scientists and marketing team to reformulate and re-identify the entire brandMD® line, ensuring that we provide physicians, dermatologists and plastic surgeons with the latest innovation and superior technology. Through extensive research and clinical studies, brandMD® is now offering synergistically advanced formulations, utilizing newly patented complexes, superior botanical blends, while staying away from parabens, synthetic fragrances and alcohols. All of brandMD's technology-based products are manufactured at Neutraderm Inc.'s 35,000 sq. ft. state-of-the-art FDA regulated facility.

According to Samuel Raof, President and CEO of Neutraderm, Inc., "We have spent countless hours of extensive research, analyzing the best products and innovations out in the market, in order to develop superior products that meet both the end-consumer and physician's needs."

Many of the Neutraderm, Inc. products that are currently being carried, and that physicians are familiar with, will remain unchanged. Other items have been re-formulated to incorporate innovative ingredients and technology. All of these newly improved products will now be available exclusively through brandMD®.

Our fresh new consumer friendly packaging truly reflects our dedication to superior excellence and our commitment to the success of our partners. We strongly believe that the new brandMD® packaging and marketing materials will increase our physician's private label profitability and provide the physician with the support they need.

Neutraderm, Inc.'s team of highly skilled scientists specialize in developing and researching the most innovative skin care solutions possible. Neutraderm, Inc. continues to manufacture and distribute scientifically tested, premium grade, custom-formulated skin care products for major brands distributed around the world.
